The book cover features two anime-style characters. In the foreground, a girl with long, flowing blonde hair and purple eyes looks directly at the viewer. She wears a dark school uniform with a white shirt and a blue bow. Behind her, a girl with short red hair and orange eyes looks off to the side. She also wears a dark school uniform. The background is a dark blue sky with silhouettes of a castle and flying bats. The title 'Gakuen Nightmare' is written in large, stylized Japanese characters on the right side. The author's name 'Houjyou Yutori' is at the bottom, followed by a large number '1' with a downward-pointing arrow.

NETLORE ARTICLE TRANSLATIONS

HITORI KAKURENBO

This game is a ritual to invite malevolent presence by binding it inside the body of a doll, similar to possession. The spirit will stay inside the doll and use its form to find you while you hide. It is said that some failed in exorcising the summoned spirits and they end up haunting the player forever.

LEGEND OF SUGISAWA VILLAGE

Sugisawa Village was supposedly a village in Aomori Prefecture, in the Tohoku region of Japan, which appears in a legend. The legend tells of a man who, in a moment of madness, massacred the other villagers before killing himself. The land upon which the village, now abandoned, stood was supposedly incorporated into a nearby village, and all trace of it erased from maps and official documents. However, it is said that evil spirits haunt the ruins, and anyone who visits the area will never return.
